

JACK THE RIPPER

Voice Description: Male, Late 30's- mid 40's Looking for an authentic UK accent
Mid pitched to deep voice with some texture.

Season 1: Dub trailer available here

Season 2: Sub trailer available here

Character Description: Jack the Ripper is a serial killer hailing from late 19th century Britain, often considered humanity's most infamous. In the anime, he takes on the disposition of a typical gentleman of his era, with sophisticated vocabulary and behavior.

Beneath that distinguished facade, Jack is a cold-blooded monster. He's happy to murder—for fun—and revels in his victims' fear. Dude is bad news. In combat, his approach is more intellectual: tactics & traps over brute force. Japanese Voice Actor: Tomokazu Sugita

LABEL: CHARACTER_FirstName LastName_AGENT_Location

Example: JackTheRipper_Jon Doe_AGENT_LA

Slate: Name

No more than 2 takes, if submitting 2 takes please send on 1 MP3

We are asking local (Los Angeles-based) talent to record this title in-studio. We are open to talent outside of LA, but please note, we will ask for a new remote test for this project, even if you have recorded for us recently.

You're welcome to add breath or dialogue imperfections for the audition, only if it feels natural. Looking for cinematic performances.

Scene 1

Jack is introduced to the arena, facing off against the mythical demigod Hercules. The two square off on a cobblestone street modeled off of Victorian Britain.

HERCULES	If you step down and admit defeat right now, then I will implore Lord Zeus to not completely destroy your soul. Because, unlike you, I despise senseless murder!!
JACK	Sir, I must first thank you kindly for agreeing to do battle in my native London. However, I'm afraid to say, I can do no such thing.
HERCULES	What?!
JACK	No matter how slim the odds of victory may be... I must always accept a duel. (beat) For I am a Gentleman.

Scene 2

Moments after the battle against Hercules begins, Jack runs off into a side street and appears to be sitting down...drinking tea....Yes, in the middle of battle.

HERCULES	What are you doing?
JACK	Pardon me... but it just turned tea time. Even if one is a warrior, it is in a gentleman's taste that one ought to break for tea time. Would you fancy a cup?
HERCULES	Draw your weapon.
JACK	(sipping) My, isn't this just the finest thing?
HERCULES	Why you... This is... [it's a trap]
JACK	Oops.
HERCULES	(attacking) Be gone!
JACK	Certainly. (takes out a gun)

Continues Next Page

Scene 3

Hercules has just attacked Jack with a power-up that made him crash to the ground after being suspended on wires. Instead of despairing at their drastic power imbalance, Jack says this...

HERCULES	It's useless. Your petty tricks won't work on me.
JACK	(initially panting from the fall) Eh... eh.... Excellent!! That's good. Very good... More... please... get even more confident.
HERCULES	What?!
JACK	Yes... as I thought... that immovable will of yours. That expression... It makes for such a nice color. It seems... I can expect a lot from you. (beat) Ah... pardon me. I lost myself there. After all... this is my first chance... to meet a God.