

Wan Qing- Masculine

Accent- General Asian Accent

(Chinese accent/familiarity with Pinyin or Chinese terms is preferred)

Description:

Wan Qing is an apprentice in the Tianshi Bureau and a graduate student under Shu. Over a decade ago, he was one of the famine victims who were rescued. He grew up in Dahuang City and later resolved to learn about agriculture to advance and promote it. Although he has never left this land, he possesses a clear and thorough understanding of many things. He has always been on the path to realizing his dreams with a very positive attitude, quickly recovering from setbacks whenever they occur. Even when faced with the challenge that "future generations may not remember your contributions," he still firmly believes that "as long as it benefits future generations, I don't care about being remembered." He might not be the most talented student of all, but he'll never stop trying and working until eventually find his own way of reaching the goal.

Voice Requirement:

- 1) Voice Age: around 17
- 2) He sounds genuine and optimistic, with a certain warmth in his tone; he's always energetic

Voice Reference:

Please mainly refer to the JP reference

The following EN dubs are also great references:

Arima Kousei from Your lie in April-

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=G5wUmRBvvHo&list=PLRTTqSOw0wTUU_VyAzx Cm42Sitw rAli f&index=3

*The soothingness and warmth in Arima's tone is a great reference. While Wan Qing sounds more energetic and vibrant, with more smile.

FILENAME	CONTEXT	DIALOGUE	DIRECTION NOTES
Wan Qing_01 1	Talking to the player character (also called "Doctor") when you meet for the first time.	Why am I called 'Wanqing'? It's one of the breeds of rice that my master cultivated in Dahuang. Others include Fanglao #3, Zaoyou #8, Kangdong #11... 'Wanqing' sounds the best.	(Chinese Pinyin: wàn qǐng 万顷;dà huāng 大荒; fáng lào 防涝; zǎo yōu 早忧;káng dòng 抗冻) genuine, friendly, explaining; then a little awkward­ when talking about the other names, smiling
Wan Qing_00 2	Talking to the player character (also called "Doctor")	Wait, there's a bug on your collar. It's a green lacewing, a helpful sort. They hunt the pests that eat our crops. Their beautiful wings are the color of jade, they're just cute little guys all around. My master always laughed and said that if I didn't become a farmer, I could've been an entomologist.	surprised and excited to find the bug, then introducing it genuinely, delighted, smiling
Wan Qing_01 2	Talking to the player character (also called "Doctor") when your EXP increases as you're watching the battle records.	Everyone looks so well-mannered around here, it's hard to imagine that they're so fierce in battle...	a little unexpected, hesitated, with a kind of awkward smile
Wan Qing_02 1	Selected as operator (talking to the player character)	I'm her—Er, I mean... I'm in position.	answering the player's call very energetically as if it were a teacher calling the roll in class; then realizing it's not, a bit shy and awkward, calmed down a bit

Wan Qing_02 5	Use Skill; Talking to the enemy	With the aid of the wind, we too can soar through the skies.	chanting, genuine, firm
---------------------	---------------------------------------	-----------------------------------------------------------------	-------------------------