

Character Name: Wuji

Age Range: 25 - 29

Gender Identity: Male

Nationality: Chinese

Languages: English, Mandarin

Character Bio & Motivation:

A driven, confident man with a keen understanding of himself and his surroundings. He is devoid of arrogance and bends his considerable ambition towards bettering himself through vigorous training, so he might finally conquer an opponent who challenged him years prior. Wuji's smoldering intensity runs through every action. He speaks with intention, selecting each word with care. Highly efficient, Wuji abstains from small talk and often directs his thoughts inward in a pattern of self-reflection.

Like an athlete in the throes of the sport, Wuji shouts from his chest during moments of extreme action; not out of anger, but as a method to control his body, channel his spirit, and triumph over his foes. In the deepest parts of himself, Wuji struggles with self-doubt, often wondering if he truly is good enough to master his power and potential.

Wuji is a prolific firearms expert who thrives in the thick of battle. When at his best, Wuji falls into a rhythmic trance of blood and bullets, clearing entire enemy platoons on his own.
